Chair's Statement

Domestic abuse is a hugely damaging problem which impacts on both adults and children and requires a structured and co-ordinated response. It is deeply embedded in some communities so that victims, perpetrators and children may not even recognise or define their experience as domestic abuse and this constitutes a barrier to seeking help.

Evidence tells us that domestic abuse is a key indicator for child abuse and neglect and has also been found to co-exist with child sexual abuse. There is also a worrying number of domestic abuse incidents involving elder people, including abuse by partners, sons, daughters and other family members.

Research has identified three key factors contributing to successful intervention

- A holistic multi agency approach that addresses the needs of both adults, children and other dependents
- Links between adults' and children's services
- Intensive targeted support within a framework of universal provision

In Lincolnshire we have some very robust partnership arrangements and this protocol is another example of our highly effective collaborative approach. It provides front line practitioners with important information and guidance to assist them in tackling the dynamics and effects of domestic abuse and demonstrates the importance of a multi- agency response.

This document brings together everything a practitioner and manager would need. The Protocol is a "one stop shop" of resources and information that are designed for all staff and managers working within any Lincolnshire service that supports adults and / or children who may be affected by domestic abuse. It outlines practical, good practice approaches for responding to adults and families who are affected by domestic abuse.

This protocol should be referred to alongside internal policies and procedures and Safeguarding Board policies and procedures.

Our vision is to prevent anyone in Lincolnshire suffering domestic abuse.

Aim

The Lincolnshire Domestic Abuse Strategic Management Board, the Lincolnshire Safeguarding Children Board and the Lincolnshire Safeguarding Adults Board regard domestic abuse as a priority issue to be tackled by partner agencies and have jointly produced this protocol as guidance on the action to be taken by practitioners.

These multi-agency procedures are for all staff and managers working within any Lincolnshire service that supports adults and / or children who may be experiencing domestic abuse directly or indirectly. It outlines practical, good practice approaches for responding to adults and families who are affected by domestic abuse.

Our vision is to prevent anyone in Lincolnshire suffering domestic abuse.

Domestic Abuse involves the misuse of power and is based on a range of control tactics. This form of abuse is largely hidden behind closed doors and it may leave the victims feeling isolated and powerless.

Domestic Abuse has a significant impact on individuals, families and our communities. It also has major implications for service providers and agencies across Lincolnshire and increases the demand on our services and organisations.

Nationally, nearly 1 million women experience at least one incident of domestic abuse each year. 1 in 10 men report they have experienced domestic abuse and at least 750,000 children a year witness domestic abuse. Accordingly staff working within our universal and targeted services, as well as the general public can be affected; whether through intimate partnerships, family members, friends or our colleagues at work.

By working together in Lincolnshire we can:

1. Reduce the number of people in Lincolnshire who experience domestic abuse
2. Reduce the length and severity of abuse for victims
3. Reduce the number of perpetrators of domestic abuse through prevention and criminal justice interventions
4. Create a culture in the County that never tolerates domestic abuse

The guidance outlined in this document recognises that our priority in this area is the safeguarding of children and vulnerable adults. It does not replace existing safeguarding children or adults procedures. As such this protocol should be read in conjunction with;

- Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference \(MARAC\) Operating Protocol. To access the protocol practitioners need to sign into the secure area of the website
- Multi Agency Safeguarding Children Board Policies and Procedures
- Multi Agency Safeguarding Adults Board Policies and Procedures
- Your own internal agency policies and procedure

Definition of Domestic Abuse

The Home Office (2013) definition of domestic violence and abuse is:

“Any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive or threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are or have been intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality. This can encompass but is not limited to the following types of abuse (adapted from the Home Office definition):

- Psychological / emotional abuse – intimidation and threats (e.g. about children or family pets), social isolation, verbal abuse, humiliation, constant criticism, enforced trivial routines, marked over intrusiveness.
- Physical violence – slapping, pushing, kicking, stabbing, damage to property or items of sentimental value, attempted murder or murder;
- Physical restriction of freedom – controlling who the mother or child/ren see or where they go, what they wear or do, stalking, imprisonment, forced marriage;
- Sexual violence – any non-consensual sexual activity, including rape, sexual assault, sexual exploitation, refusing safer sex or human trafficking; and
- Financial abuse – stealing, depriving or taking control of money, running up debts, withholding benefits books or bank cards.

Controlling behaviour is: a range of acts designed to make a person subordinate and/or dependent by isolating them from sources of support, exploiting their resources and capacities for personal gain, depriving them of the means needed for independence, resistance and escape and regulating their everyday behaviour.

Coercive behaviour is: an act or a pattern of acts of assault, threats, humiliation and intimidation or other abuse that is used to harm, punish, or frighten their victim.

This definition, which is not a legal definition, includes so called 'honour' based violence, female genital mutilation (FGM) and forced marriage, and is clear that victims are not confined to one gender or ethnic group.”

Background

Domestic Abuse affects thousands of women, men and children every day. National statistics state that there is a report of domestic abuse to the police every minute. It is known that much domestic abuse goes unreported and that these figures represent just a quarter of the estimated number of victims.

Tackling domestic abuse is a priority in Lincolnshire with agencies committed to heightening awareness of domestic abuse and providing guidance and support for practitioners and managers to reduce the occurrence of domestic abuse and its effects on the communities they serves.

The reason domestic abuse is a priority in Lincolnshire is because:

- 10,327 incidents were reported to Lincolnshire Police in 2014-2015
- In 2014-2015 there were 846 Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference (MARAC) referrals for High Risk Victims
- Approximately half of all adult safeguarding cases are domestic abuse related
- It is estimated that Domestic Abuse costs Lincolnshire £61.7 million (not including the emotional cost to victims or male victims or the costs involved in Domestic Homicide Reviews)

- According to the Crime Survey for England and Wales (CSEW), in 2012-2013 5.7% of the adult population aged 16 to 59 had experienced some form of domestic abuse in the last year (this includes partner and family abuse). If Lincolnshire is broadly representative of the national picture, then this would mean that in 2012-13 there were 22,414 victims of domestic abuse in Lincolnshire aged between 16 and 59. This is more than the entire population of towns the size of Sleaford, Gainsborough, Stamford or Skegness.
- The 2012-13 CSEW also estimates that 4.2% of the adult population aged 16 to 59 had experienced partner abuse, while 2.1% experienced family abuse. Again, assuming that Lincolnshire is broadly representative of the national picture, this would mean that in 2012-13 there were 16,297 victims of partner abuse and 8,104 victims of family abuse aged 16 to 59 living in the county.
- 29% of male domestic abuse victims do not tell anybody about the abuse. 17% of female domestic abuse victims do not tell anybody about their abuse. Assuming Lincolnshire follows the national picture, this means that in the county there may be 2,439 male victims and 2,396 female victims of domestic abuse in 2013-13 who suffered in silence. (CSEW 2012-13).
- A third of all female suicide attempts can be attributed to current or past experience of domestic abuse. CSEW data suggests that nearly 1,000 people in Lincolnshire in 2012/2013 may have tried to take their own life following their most recent incident of domestic abuse.

Please see the Domestic Abuse Website for further statistics and the national picture www.domesticabuselincolnshire.com

Professional Curiosity

Many Domestic Homicide Reviews and Serious Case Reviews refer to a lack of professional curiosity or respectful uncertainty. Practitioners need to demonstrate a non-discriminatory approach and explore the issues and formulate judgements that translate into effective actions in their dealings with children, adults and families. This should be matched by an organisational culture which supports its staff in openness, constructive challenge and confidence to practice sensitive and challenging circumstances at the front line.

It is vital that professionals understand the complexity of domestic abuse and are curious about what is happening in the child, adult and perpetrators life.

Professional curiosity is the capacity and communication skill to explore and understand what is happening within a family rather than making assumptions or accepting things at face value.

Practitioners should never avoid asking the difficult questions, sharing concerns with colleagues or your supervisor as a "fresh pair of eyes" looking at a case can really help to maintain good practice standards and develop a critical mindset.

Professional curiosity is much more likely if practitioners:

- are supported by good quality training to help them develop
- have access to good management, support and supervision when working with challenging situations of domestic abuse which will impact on staff working with families
- 'walk in the shoes' (have empathy) of the child and / or adult to consider the situation from their lived experience
- remain diligent in working with the family and developing the professional relationships to understand that has happened and its impact on all family members

Practitioners should always try to see all parties separately, however when that is not possible and particularly when a victim is not being seen alone, professionals should also be alert to the following behaviours they may observe. If these signals are present the practitioner should find a way of seeing the suspected victim alone:

- The victim waits for her/his partner to speak first;

- The victim glances at her/his partner each time (s)he speaks, checking her/his reaction;
- The victim smooths over any conflict;
- The partner speaks for most of the time;
- The partner sends clear signals to the victim, by eye / body movement, facial expression or verbally, to warn them;
- The partner has a range of complaints about the victim, which (s)he does not defend.

Staff must be cognisant to the needs of young people (aged 16 years or above) who may be experiencing inequality and / or violence in their relationships and be able to advise on their right to pursue actions under the revised guidance.

Professionals, however curious cannot protect children and adults by working on in isolation. Domestic abuse requires a multi-agency response and families and communities also have a vital role to play in protecting children and adults.

If any professional suspects or becomes aware of domestic abuse they must notify their manager with their concerns whether they work directly with members of the public or not.

Disguised compliance

As part of professional curiosity practitioners should be aware of disguised compliance and use their professional judgment to question what is really going on.

Disguised compliance can take a number of different forms and parents, adults or perpetrators can use these techniques to avoid raising suspicions, to allay professional concerns and to delay or avoid professional intervention. Examples include:

- focus on engaging well with one set of professionals (e.g. education,) to deflect attention from their lack of engagement with other services.
- criticise other professionals to divert attention away from their own behaviour.
- promise to take up services offered but then fail to attend.
- promise to change their behaviour and then avoid contact with professionals.

If disguised compliance is suspected this should be carefully recorded with evidence.

Asking the Question

Victims of domestic abuse are often too afraid or uncomfortable to raise the issue of abuse themselves. Practitioner's should be prepared to ask questions sensitively, but directly.

For example:

- Can you tell me what's been happening?
- You seem upset. How are things?
- Are you frightened of someone / something?
- How are things at home?
- Did someone hurt you?
- How did you get those injuries?
- Are you in a relationship in which you have been physically hurt or threatened by your partner?
- Have you ever been in such a relationship?
- Do you ever feel frightened by your partner or other people at home?
- Are you (or have you ever been) in a relationship in which you felt you were badly treated? In what ways?
- Has your partner destroyed things that you care about?
- Has your partner ever threatened to harm your family? Do you believe that he/she would?
- What happens when you and your partner disagree?

- Has your partner ever prevented you from leaving the house, seeing friends, getting a job or continuing in education?
- What would happen if you wanted to go out with friends?
- Does your partner restrict your access to money or access your Child Benefit or allowances?
- Has your partner ever hit, punched, pushed, shoved or slapped you?
- Has your partner ever threatened you with a weapon?
- Does your partner use drugs or alcohol excessively? If so, how does he/she behave at this time?
- Do you ever feel you have to walk on eggshells around your partner?
- Have the police ever been involved?
- Have you ever been physically hurt in any way when you were pregnant?
- Has your partner ever threatened to harm the children? Or to take them away from you?

Basic Principles:

Make sure that the time and place is appropriate when asking the question e.g. not when he/she is about to pick the children up, go to work or an appointment or there are other people around. If you suspect domestic abuse make sure that the perpetrator is not likely to interrupt you/come home. If you need to complete a risk assessment, make sure you have plenty of time - there are 27 risk factors to go through.

Risk Assessment

If you suspect domestic abuse, a disclosure has been made to you or an agency or member of the public has shared concerns with you relating to domestic abuse you, or a competent and trained practitioner within your agency, must complete a DASH risk assessment with the victim.

The DASH allows professionals to make an assessment of risk relating to domestic abuse and ultimately can help determine the course of action that is required. The assessment should be carried out at once, by the practitioner who identifies the concern wherever possible and safe. Where this is not appropriate the assessment should be carried out as soon as possible by the practitioner who identifies the concern or the colleague identified in the organisation's internal procedures.

There are 27 questions so please ensure that you are in a safe environment and that there is sufficient time to listen to the victim and complete the assessment. It is important that you document the answers and keep a record of the outcomes in line with your own agency protocols. Please refer to appendix three for the full DASH risk assessment

Additional factors

There are a number of factors that have the potential to increase the risk of abuse in relationships and accordingly increase the risk of harm to victims, children, dependents and perpetrators. The impact of mental health problems/issues, problematic drug and alcohol use should be considered as additional risk factors which should be planned for accordingly in collaboration with the client and relevant professionals where they are involved.

It is highlighted in Serious Care Reviews and in statutory safeguarding guidance that known risk factors for families are where problematic alcohol and/or drug use and parental mental health problems co-occur with domestic abuse. Nearly a third of mothers (31%) and a third of fathers (32%) had disclosed either mental health problems, problematic drug and alcohol use, or both. (SAFELIVES, In plain sight: The evidence from children exposed to domestic abuse, February 2014)

What happens Next and Referral Pathways

Please see appendix one – referral flowchart.

On completion of the risk assessment you should decide on your course of action. The DASH risk assessment will help you to determine the most appropriate course of action and what response is required. It is important that practitioners become familiar with this risk assessment and referral pathways so that resources and intervention can be allocated accordingly.

Risk assessment and risk management will not remove the risk entirely but it can help to reduce the probability of harm. Always consider whether you need to take any immediate action to safeguard the victim and any children or vulnerable adults or share any information with agencies to safeguard the victim/family.

On completion of the risk assessment you will be able to make a judgment of whether the victim is at High Risk of significant harm or death. This is when:

- The victim has answered 'yes' to 14 or more of the questions and/or;
- You can see escalation of the abuse, either in frequency or severity and/or;
- Using your professional judgement you believe that the victim is High risk.

If you believe the victim to be at imminent high risk of significant harm or death and a crime has been committed you must contact the police, call 999 and make an emergency referral to the Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference (MARAC). If further significant harm or death is not considered to be imminent you should still encourage the victim to report the abuse to Lincolnshire Police and make a referral to MARAC. If a crime has been committed but there is no immediate danger dial 101. You must tell the victim that you are making a referral to MARAC and that he/she will be contacted by an Independent Domestic Violence Advisor (IDVA). Please refer to the MARAC referral process section below.

If you do not consider the victim to be high risk of serious harm and that the risk is not imminent then you should always ensure that details of specialist domestic abuse services are provided. Please refer to the specialist services referral process below.

If additional care and support needs are identified or concerns around mental capacity then consider a referral to Adult Safeguarding (regardless of risk score). Please refer to adult safeguarding referral pathway below.

If there are children linked to the victim or perpetrator and you believe that a child or children are being affected by domestic abuse then please refer to the children's referral process below.

High Risk referral process (MARAC):

Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference (MARAC). The MARAC process ensures a timely risk assessment of the circumstances affecting a victim of domestic abuse, ensures that those individuals believed to be at high risk of serious harm or death are linked directly with appropriate services, providing a coordinated multi-agency response to high risk domestic abuse cases, in a single meeting.

You must tell the victim that you are making a referral to MARAC and that he/she will be contacted by an Independent Domestic Violence Advisor (IDVA). The role of the IDVA is to discuss risk and safety, provide information about options available and be the voice of the victim at the MARAC. A leaflet about the Role of the IDVA is available on the practitioner pages of the Domestic Abuse website:

You must then contact the MARAC representative for your service before submitting the referral. The perpetrator must NOT be told of the MARAC referral.

If the victim has already been heard at MARAC and there has been a further significant incident with the same perpetrator, a repeat referral should be made via your MARAC representative. See the MARAC Operating Protocol for 'repeat referral' criteria and procedures.

Risk is dynamic and can change very quickly. If you feel that the victim is NOT at high risk of significant harm or death you should still ensure that they are referred or given information about local specialist domestic abuse services. Consider whether you need to share information with any other agency to safeguard the victim/family or prevent a crime.

For more detailed guidance on the MARAC process contact your MARAC representative. If you do not know who your MARAC representative is contact your supervisor. If you are still in doubt or your agency does not have a MARAC representative please contact the MARAC Administrators at Lincolnshire County Council on 01522 554596 or via secure email at marac@lincolnshire.gcsx.gov.uk

Specialist DA Services

Specialist domestic abuse services have experienced staff that work with victims and survivors of domestic abuse. They are independent organisations, often charities, and will provide practical and emotional help and support.

If you are concerned that someone you know is experiencing Domestic Abuse and they are not at immediate harm please contact the specialist domestic abuse services in the appropriate area, or if you want advice or support regarding a concern:

- If you live in Lincoln, West Lindsey, North Kesteven or South Kesteven, call 01427 616219 or 01522 510041
- If you live in East Lindsey, call 01507 609830
- If you live in Boston and South Holland, call 01205 318600 or 01205 311272

Adult at Risk Referral Process

According to the Care Act 2014, the local authority must make enquiries, or instruct others to do so, if they reasonably suspect an adult, who has care needs, is experiencing or is at risk of abuse or neglect. If a victim of domestic abuse has care and support needs they may be less able to protect themselves from abuse.

Safeguarding Adults is everyone's responsibility and by completing the DASH risk assessment you will have been able to comply with the objectives of the Care Act by establishing the facts of the situation, the views and wishes of the victim and identify what support may be needed to safeguard the victim and any dependents. Therefore, in cases where domestic abuse is the only presenting factor and no other care needs are identified, there is not always a need to make a referral to the local authority Safeguarding Adults team. However, each individual's vulnerability must be assessed, and referrals made if complex needs may not be met without intervention from Safeguarding Adults Team.

If, having completed the risk assessment you have concerns that extend beyond Domestic Abuse and you are worried that the victim, or a member of the household, has additional care and support needs please call the Customer Service Centre (CSC) on 01522 782155. If it is outside normal office hours you can contact the Emergency Duty Team on 01522 782333.

People who are deaf, hard of hearing or speech impaired can contact the police's typetalk service. The typetalk landline numbers are 01522 558263 and 01522 558140, the mobile number is 07761 911287. For all Safeguarding Adults Policies and Procedures go to the LSAB website.

Early Help for Children

The EHA process has been designed to help practitioners assess needs at an early stage and then work with the child / young person, their family and other practitioners and agencies to meet these needs. As such, it is designed for use when:

- You are worried about how well a child / young person is progressing.
- You might be worried about their health, development, welfare, behaviour, progress in learning or any other aspect of their wellbeing
- A child / young person or their parent / carer raises a concern with you
- The child's or young person's needs are unclear, or broader than your service can address alone
- The child or young person would benefit from an assessment to help a practitioner understand their needs better.

If you have any of these concerns complete an Early Help Assessment with the child and family. If on completion a need is identified that you are unable to address you will need to initiate a Team Around the Child (TAC).

If you are unsure what action to take you may want to have a consultation with an Early Help Advisor, call Children's Services CSC on 01522 782111.

As the DASH form is an assessment tool for adult victims, practitioners working with the family need to ensure that a risk assessment is completed of the child(ren) with regards to the impact of the Domestic Abuse, Barnardo's 'Assessing the risks to children from domestic abuse'. The Signs of Safety model should also be used, incorporating the direct work tool 'The Three Houses' 'Wizards and Fairies'. The practitioner should also consider Safety Planning with the victim, child (ren) and young people.

Safeguarding Children Referral Process

If you believe a child or young adult under the age of 18 years might be suffering, or is likely to suffer significant harm (including any mistreatment or abuse), contact the Children Services CSC on 01522 782111. If it is outside normal office hours you can contact the Emergency Duty Team on 01522 782333. If your referral is assessed as a safeguarding concern then you will be required to complete the Safeguarding Referral Form as written confirmation of your referral. Send this via secure email (or post) to the locality area team as directed by the call advisor at the time of referral.

If your concern is in relation to an unborn child then you should follow the Lincolnshire Safeguarding Children Board Pre-birth protocol.

For all safeguarding children policies and procedures go to the LSCB website.

Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme (DVDS)

The DV Disclosure Scheme was launched in Lincolnshire in March 2014. A mainly police led scheme, with two routes available Right to Ask & Right to Know. The applications are managed and held by Lincolnshire Police, with all applications processed and managed by the Public Protection Unit. A monthly Decision Making Forum (DMF) will ensure that all the applications are discussed within the required timeframe. Should a disclosure be agreed the exact form of wording is agreed at the DMF and how that will be delivered is managed by the Domestic Abuse Detective Sergeant.

The DV Disclosure Scheme has the following key principles:

- * Introduce recognised and consistent procedures for disclosing information to persons with concerns about a current partner. It enables a current partner of a violent individual to make informed choices about whether and how to take forward that relationship.
- * Disclosure is considered if it is lawful, necessary and proportionate to protect a potential person at risk from harm.

- * Disclosure MUST be accompanied by a robust safety plan, based on all relevant information, which delivers on-going support to the potential person at risk.

As a practitioner if you believe someone you are working with, or know, is at risk of harm and could be eligible under the scheme, you should refer a person/case to Lincolnshire Police as follows:

- Members of the public (person at risk, third party i.e. guardian, parent) calls Lincolnshire Police on 101 (non emergency).
- Practitioners can also refer cases they are working on if they believe a disclosure may be required by contacting the PPU CRU on email ppu-cru@lincs.pnn.police.uk

Should someone be at immediate risk of harm, always call 999 in an emergency. For further information on the scheme see the Lincolnshire Police website.

Information Sharing With and Without Consent

General guidance:

Knowing when and how to share information is not always easy, but it is important to get it right. Families need to feel reassured that their confidentiality is respected. In most cases you will only share information about them with their consent, but there may be circumstances when you need to override this.

The Seven Golden Rules for information sharing:

1. Remember that the Data Protection Act is not a barrier to sharing information but provides a framework to ensure that personal information about living persons is shared appropriately. <http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/1998/29/contents>
2. Be open and honest with the person (and/or their family where appropriate) from the outset about why, what, how and with whom information will, or could be shared, and seek their agreement, unless it is unsafe or inappropriate to do so.
3. Seek advice if you are in any doubt, without disclosing the identity of the person where possible.
4. Share with consent where appropriate and, where possible, respect the wishes of those who do not consent to share confidential information. You may still share information without consent if, in your judgement, that lack of consent can be overridden in the child's/adults/public interest. You will need to base your judgement on the needs of the child/adult facts of the case.
5. Consider safety and well-being: Base your information sharing decisions on considerations of the safety and well-being of the person and others who may be affected by their actions.
6. Necessary, proportionate, relevant, accurate, timely and secure: Ensure that the information you share is necessary for the purpose for which you are sharing it, is shared only with those people who need to have it, is accurate and up-to-date, is shared in a timely fashion, and is shared securely.
7. Keep a record of your decision and the reasons for it – whether it is to share information or not. If you decide to share, then record what you have shared, with whom and for what purpose.

Points for Consideration:

- Is there a legitimate purpose for sharing information?
- Does the information enable a person to be identified?
- Is the information confidential?

- If so, do you have consent to share?
- Is there a statutory duty or court order to share the information?
- If consent refused/there are good reasons not to seek consent,
- Is there sufficient public interest to share information?
- If the decision is to share, are you sharing the right information in the right way?
- Have you properly recorded your decision?

MARAC – Information Sharing and consent

For further guidance on information sharing please refer to the Domestic Abuse Information Sharing Agreement and the MARAC Operating Protocol on the domestic abuse practitioners pages <http://www.lincolnshire.gov.uk/domestic-abuse/practitioners>

Specific considerations in relation to children and adults – information sharing/consent

There may be circumstances where a parent is not informed that a safeguarding referral is being made, if you suspect;

- Sexual abuse, organised abuse or fabricated illness or injury (FII)
- It isn't possible to contact parents without causing undue delay in making a referral.
- The risk of destroying evidence
- Possibility of increased risk of domestic violence
- Possibility of the family moving to avoid professional scrutiny

It is always essential in safeguarding to consider whether the adult at risk is capable of giving informed consent in all aspects of their life. If they are able, their consent should be sought. This may be in relation to whether they give consent to:

- An activity that may be abusive – if consent to abuse or neglect was given under duress (e.g. as a result of exploitation, pressure, fear or intimidation), this apparent consent should be disregarded.
- A Safeguarding Adults enquiry going ahead in response to a concern that has been raised. Where an adult at risk with capacity has made a decision that they do not want action to be taken and there are no public interest or vital interest considerations, their wishes must be respected. The person must be given information and have the opportunity to consider all the risks and fully understand the likely consequences of that decision over the short and long term.
- The recommendations of an individual protection plan being put in place.
- A medical examination
- An interview
- Certain decisions and actions taken during the Safeguarding Adults process with the person or with people who know about their abuse and its impact on the adult at risk.

If, after discussion with the adult at risk who has mental capacity, they refuse any intervention, their wishes will be respected unless:

- there is an aspect of public interest (e.g. not acting will put other adults or children at risk)
- there is a duty of care on a particular agency to intervene for example the police if a crime has been or may be committed).

Safety Advice and Planning

Victims of domestic abuse are at increased risk when they are planning to leave a relationship or have just left. Here is some safety advice that you could discuss with a victim.

- Dial 999 in an emergency and teach your children to call 999 in an emergency, and what they would need to say (for example, their full name, address and telephone number).
- Ask him/her to plan in advance how they might respond in different situations, including crisis situations.
- Think about the different options that may be available.
- Does she/he have trusted neighbours, friends or family nearby where they could go in an emergency? If so, tell them what is going on, and ask them to call the police if they hear sounds of a violent attack.
- Rehearse an escape plan, so in an emergency you and the children can get away safely.
- Pack an emergency bag for yourself and your children, and hide it somewhere safe (for example, at a neighbour's or friend's house). Try to avoid mutual friends or family.
- Try to keep a small amount of money on you at all times - including change for the phone and for bus fares.
- Know where the nearest phone is, and if you have a mobile phone, try to keep it with you and charged up.

Emergency safety plans should be in place whilst assessments, referrals and interventions are being progressed.

In some cases where there is a severe risk of harm to the child/ren, the emergency safety plan / strategy should be for the child/ren and, if possible, the non-abusive parent, not to have contact with the abuser.

It is important that Practitioners do not work in isolation and utilise the skills and expertise of specialist services in assessing, intervening and safety planning for the victim and the child/ren.

Improved home security for victims of domestic abuse

District Councils in Lincolnshire operate schemes to help victims of domestic abuse improve the security of their home. The schemes, sometimes called 'Sanctuary' or 'Target hardening' aim to provide additional security measures to deter and prevent someone from entering the property and reducing the fear for victims at risk of further harm.

The schemes are often run in partnership with Lincolnshire Police, who will advise on crime prevention, and with the specialist domestic abuse services who will look at risks and provide practical safety planning advice as well as emotional support.

Improved security measures could include:

- Door chains
- Covering over letterboxes and fitting external fire retardant letter boxes,
- Reinforcing exterior doors
- Extra door and window locks
- Alarms
- Smoke detectors and fire safety equipment

Victims of domestic abuse can find out more about what is available in their area by asking their domestic abuse support worker or contacting their district council.

Associated Forms of Domestic Abuse

Teenage abusive relationships

A recent NSPCC survey showed that 25% of girls and 18% of boys have experienced physical violence in a relationship.

As with adults, abuse in teen relationships doesn't just cover physical violence. Other examples of this type of abuse include:

- Pressuring you into having sex
- Controlling behaviour including what friends you can see or speak to and where you go
- Jealousy or anger
- Threatening to put lies, personal information, pictures on social networking sites
- Constant name calling and comments

Research completed by the NSPCC into partner exploitation and partner violence in teenage intimate relationships revealed that for girls in particular, having an older partner, and especially a “much older” partner, was a significant risk factor. Overall, three-quarters of girls with a “much older” partner experienced physical violence, 80 per cent emotional violence and 75 per cent sexual violence.

In those circumstances where the victim is under 18 years and the perpetrator is 18 years or above, or if both victim and perpetrator are under 18 years this should also be treated as a child safeguarding concern. A referral/signposting can also be made to specialist domestic abuse services when deemed appropriate. In the event that a child is known to be involved in a violent relationship, the practitioner should consider undertaking an Early Help Assessment. Should the practitioner subsequently decide they would like a consultation with an Early Help Advisor regarding their next steps this should be arranged. During the course of any such discussions the practitioner may find it helpful to consider with the Early Help Advisor whether the matter meets the threshold for social care intervention.

If the practitioner believes the child is at immediate risk then they should contact the police and initiate child protection procedures by contacting the Children’s Services Customer Services Centre (CSC) on 01522 782111 and reporting a safeguarding concern; e.g. a child involved in a relationship with a violent girlfriend / boyfriend. Outside of normal working hours contact should be made to the Emergency Duty Team on 01522 782333.

Child Sexual Exploitation and Domestic Abuse

A person under 18 is sexually exploited if they are coerced into sexual activities by one or more persons who have deliberately targeted them due to their youth, gender, inexperience, disability, vulnerability and/or economic or social position. The process usually involves a stage of 'grooming' involving the use of a variety of manipulative and controlling techniques to target a vulnerable person.

Like domestically abusive relationships, sexually exploitative relationships are characterised by an imbalance of power and the use of controlling behaviours to maintain a young person's subordinate or dependent position, and to regulate his or her everyday behaviour. Coercive behaviours are also extremely common including the use of assault, threat, humiliation and intimidation as a means of ensuring the compliance of a victim.

Child sexual exploitation can occur through the use of technology without the child's consent or immediate recognition. A central mechanism for offenders to extend their control of their victim is through the use of mobile technology.

If you are concerned that a child or young person may be a victim or at risk of Child Sexual Exploitation then you should complete the LSCB multi-agency risk assessment tool and follow the recommended action. The risk assessment toolkit can be found on the LSCB website www.lincolnshirelscb.org.uk.

If you believe that a child/young person is at immediate risk this should be reported without delay to the Police:

- For emergencies use 999, or;
- For urgent/immediate reporting 101
- Contact the Customer Service Centre (CSC) on 01522 782111

Contact the Children's Services CSC on 01522 782111. If it is outside normal working hours you can contact the Emergency Duty Team on 01522 782333.

Adolescent to Parent Violence

The official definition of domestic abuse covers individuals from the age of 16. However, there are occasions of familial abuse where the parent/victim is over the age of 16 but the child/perpetrator is under that age. As MARAC is victim focused, if the case is high risk a referral of child to parent abuse should be made to MARAC. If they are not at immediate harm please contact the specialist domestic abuse services in the appropriate area, or if you want advice or support regarding a concern.

The child perpetrator should be referred through to children's services through the customer services centre. It is important to note that whether a child is a victim or perpetrator of domestic abuse a referral should be made to children's services.

If the concerns do not meet the threshold for a social work assessment under the Children Act (1989) the referrer will be informed by letter. The practitioner may be advised by the Early Help Advisor to consider early help support which will be detailed within the outcome letter.

The practitioner may then decide they would then like a consultation with an Early Help Advisor regarding their next steps. The practitioner can also discuss any screening decisions given regarding their safeguarding referral with an Early Help Advisor, however no Early Help consultations can occur at this time, only a discussion regarding the outcome given.

The Domestic Abuse Strategic Management Board will explore alternative ways of managing child to parent abuse and will review the use of the MARAC if a more suitable programme is developed.

Female Genital Mutilation

FGM is child abuse and violates the rights to health, security and physical integrity of the person and to be free from torture, cruel and degrading treatment. Professionals have a duty to safeguard everyone, including women and girls, which means tackling FGM is an integral part of their role. Effective action must be taken to do so, without allowing themselves to be inhibited by fear of doing or saying the wrong thing. FGM is sometimes known as 'female circumcision' or 'female genital cutting'.

Female genital mutilation (FGM) is illegal in the UK. It's also illegal to take a British national or permanent resident abroad for FGM or to help someone trying to do this.

If you know someone in immediate danger contact Lincolnshire Police. If you believe a child or young person under the age of 18 years might be suffering, or is likely to suffer significant harm (including any mistreatment or abuse), contact the Children Services CSC.

Forced Marriage

A forced marriage is where one or both people do not (or in cases of people with learning disabilities, cannot) consent to the marriage and pressure or abuse is used. The practice of Forced Marriage is recognised in the UK as a form of violence against women and men, domestic/child abuse and a serious abuse of human rights.

The pressure put on people to marry against their will can be physical (including threats, actual physical violence and sexual violence) or emotional and psychological (for example, when someone is made to feel like they're bringing shame on their family). Financial abuse (taking your wages or not giving you any money) can also be a factor.

There are national guidelines for responding to cases of forced marriage.

Multi-Agency Statutory Guidance for dealing with forced marriage 2014. Practitioners should pay particular attention to Chapters 5 and 6.

Multi-Agency practice guidelines: Handling cases of forced marriage 2014

Any case of Forced Marriage must be reported to Lincolnshire Police by calling 999

If the victim is under the age of 18 years a referral should also be made to Lincolnshire County Council Children's Services. Telephone: 01522 782111

If there victim is over the age of 18 years and has additional care and support needs, a learning disability or there are any concerns about mental capacity a referral should be made to Lincolnshire County Council Adult Care. Telephone: 01522 782155.

Additional support is available by contacting the Forced Marriage Unit: <https://www.gov.uk/forced-marriage> Telephone: 020 7008 0151

The Forced Marriage Unit has also developed an e-learning package: eLearning training for professionals

Honour Based Violence

Honour based violence refers to crimes or incidents committed to protect or defend the honour of a family and/or community. It can take many forms including harassment, criminal damage, arson, sexual assault, forced marriage, kidnap and even murder.

When dealing with potential victims it is important to recognise the seriousness/immediacy of the risk. Consider the possibility of forced marriage, abduction, missing persons and murder. Incidents that may precede a murder include:

- Forced marriage
- Domestic violence
- Attempts to separate or divorce
- A pre-marital relationship
- Pre-marital conflict
- Pregnancy
- Threats to kill or denial of access to children
- Pressure to go abroad
- House arrest and excessive restrictions
- Denial of access to the telephone, internet, passport and friends

When dealing with victims, do not speak with them in the presence of their relatives. Women that return to their families should be offered escape plans.

Please seek further advice from Lincolnshire Police and if someone is at immediate danger then call 999.

Stalking and Harassment

Stalking can be defined as persistent and unwanted attention where the victim feels pestered and harassed. There are many forms of harassment, ranging from unwanted attention from somebody seeking a romantic relationship, to violent predatory behaviour.

The British Crime Survey (2006) suggests up to five million people experience stalking or harassment in any given year and that many victims will suffer up to 100 incidents before talking to the police.

The most common forms of STALKING/harassment are:

- Frequent, unwanted contact e.g. appearing at the home or workplace of the victim.
- Telephone calls, text messages or other contact such as via the internet (i.e. social networking sites).
- Driving past the victim's home or work.
- Following or watching the victim.
- Sending letters or unwanted gifts to the victim.
- Damaging the victim's property.
- Burglary or robbery of the victim's home, workplace, vehicle or other.
- Threats of harm to the victim and/or others associated with them (including sexual violence and threats to kill).
- Harassment of people associated with the victim (e.g. family members, partner, work colleagues).
- Physical and/or sexual assault of the victim and even murder.

Is someone at risk?

If someone is unsure that what is happening to them is stalking, then there are a set of questions which can be considered. For more information go to <http://www.protectionagainststalking.org/node/7>

If someone feels they are at immediate danger then call 999. The National Stalking Helpline can help with advice and support on 0808 802 0300 <http://www.stalkinghelpline.org/>

Digital Abuse

As a professional, the case you are involved with may have elements of online / digital abuse. Many of us now use mobile, social media, email and shop online for example. If someone wants to upset, scare or intimidate another person they may use technology to do it.

This abuse can take various forms: bullying, harassment, stalking, domestic abuse, trolling, and/or hate campaigns.

Questions you may wish to consider:

- Is the victim being abused in multiple ways and means?
- How long has it been going on for?

- Is it escalating?
- What is the motivation of the abuser?
- What is the victim worried will happen?
- Mental state of the victim – are they afraid / suicidal?

You may wish to refer to the Digital Trust's website for further advice as a professional, or to guide the person who is being abused online to advice on the steps they can take to improve their online security.

Perpetrators of domestic abuse

Lincolnshire Domestic Abuse Partnership is committed to responding to the needs of domestic abuse perpetrators and key projects are being developed to improve the provision of services and local response to perpetrators.

People can be abusive without using physical violence and this too can have a devastating impact on families. Perpetrators can appear to be caring and cooperative with agencies. Practitioners should be aware that perpetrators may try to manipulate professionals, as they do partners and family members.

Perpetrators will often deny or minimise the abuse, focus on the actions of others as the reason for their behaviour or avoid contact with those who may seek to challenge them. Many perpetrators have their own difficulties with stress, emotional management, substance use and mental health. Whilst these factors do not excuse their behaviour, if addressed they may reduce the likelihood of ongoing domestic abuse.

Respect, an organisation aimed at promoting best practice in work with perpetrators, has produced guidance for working with perpetrators. The guidance is based on working with male perpetrators of abuse towards female partners. Please remember that women can also be perpetrators and men can be victims. Also remember the wider definition of domestic which includes family members.

Respect-Guidelines-for-Working-with-Male

Under no circumstances should the perpetrator of domestic abuse be informed if a case involving them has been referred to MARAC.

MAPPA and Domestic Abuse

MAPPA stands for Multi Agency Public Protection Arrangements. It is the process by which Police, Probation and Prison Services work together with other agencies to manage the risks posed by violent and sexual offenders living in the community in order to protect the public. This process focuses upon the perpetrator of the domestic abuse (or other offending) and managing their risk of serious harm and reoffending in order to protect current, previous and future victims.

Police, Prison and Probation make up the Responsible Authority which has a duty to ensure the risks posed by specified sexual and violent offenders are assessed and managed appropriately. There is a wide range of agencies with a duty to participate in MAPPA.

Should you feel that the perpetrator is high risk then consideration should be given to referring the individual to MAPPA. If the individual is already involved with another agency such as mental health services, Probation or the Prison Service it would be most appropriate to discuss a referral with the lead agency worker first.

Should you require any guidance to complete the referral form or wish to discuss a case which you feel needs to be managed through MAPPA you are able to contact the MAPPA Unit at Lincolnshire Police Headquarters on: on 01522 558668 Or 01522 558255 or e-mail: mappa@lincolnshire.probation.gsi.gov.uk

Building Better Relationships

A programme for male perpetrators of violence and abuse within (heterosexual) intimate relationships. BBR is run within prison and community delivery sites and aims to increase understanding of motivating factors in domestic violence, reduce individual risk factors linked to violence and develop pro-social relationship skills. Access to this programme is through the court following a conviction of a domestic abuse related offence or through the family court and CAFCASS.

Respect Phone line

The Respect Phone line is a confidential and anonymous helpline for domestic abuse perpetrators looking for help to address their behaviour. The main focus of the Respect Phone line is to increase the safety of those experiencing domestic abuse by engaging with the abusers to reduce the risk.

The Phoneline helps men and women in heterosexual or same-sex relationships who want to stop being violent and/or abusive towards a partner or ex-partner. It's also available for frontline workers who engage with domestic violence perpetrators in their work.

Appendix one – Referral pathway

Appendix two - Domestic Abuse Charter

The Lincolnshire Domestic Abuse Strategic Management Board has agreed a multi-agency Domestic Abuse Charter outlining 10 standards that partner agencies should aim to achieve in order to effectively respond to victims, perpetrators and families affected by domestic abuse. The Charter is a quality assurance and best practice tool. For the full guidance please see the Domestic Abuse Website, sign into the practitioner section and then click on Multi-Agency Domestic Abuse protocol.

	Standard
1.	That the agency I represent understands the realities of domestic abuse and its impact on, and cost to, the services it provides. Data to be shared within the DASMB
2.	Domestic Abuse material is displayed by the agency/department I represent relevant to local communities and is also available in alternative formats. Information about domestic abuse is included on respective agencies websites with links to the Lincolnshire DA website
3.	That there is an effective domestic abuse policy/protocol or guidance in place detailing how the agency/department will respond to domestic abuse
4.	That risk identification, risk assessment and risk management processes, for victims, perpetrators and children are fully embedded within the agency/department I represent
5.	That there is full participation by the agency I represent within the MARAC process for High Risk Victims
6.	That all appropriate referral/signposting pathways are in place for standard and medium victims
7.	That staff who require Domestic Abuse training have been identified and the level of training required assessed
8.	That all identified staff have been trained to the required level
9.	That there is regular attendance and participation at the Domestic Abuse Strategic Management Board and Domestic Abuse Delivery Group from my agency
10.	The agency has an employee policy for staff experiencing or perpetrating domestic violence

Appendix three - The Domestic Abuse, Stalking and Honour Based Violence (DASH) Risk Assessment:

DASH Question	What to consider when asking the question
1) Has the current incident resulted in injury?	Is medical assistance required? How does this compare to previous injuries? Consider emotional trauma. Be mindful that in cases with no physical abuse you might want to re-word this question so that it doesn't appear to belittle their experiences.
2) Are you very frightened? 3) What are you afraid of? Is it further injury or violence?	Establish the victim's perceived level of risk. Victims often play down the level of risk; if they say they are frightened this should be taken very seriously.
4) Do you feel isolated from family / friends? Does (...) try to stop you from seeing friends / family / GP or others?	Consider support networks, Honour Based Violence and Female Genital Mutilation. Victims may believe that they have chosen to stop seeing friends and family due to manipulation.
5) Are you feeling depressed or having suicidal thoughts?	Has the victim made any attempt at suicide or has any plans. Consider the risks to the victim and any children. Do you need to take any immediate action?
6) Have you separated or tried to separate from (...) within the past year?	Victims are at increased risk when they are planning to leave or have just left the relationship. Ask if the victim is planning to leave and if the perpetrator is aware of this.
7) Is there conflict over child contact?	This maintains communication between the victim and the perpetrator. Are the children being used as a tool/weapon against the victim?
8) Does (...) constantly text, call, contact, follow, stalk or harass you?	Domestic stalkers are more dangerous as they know more about the victim. Consider cyber abuse and whether the perpetrator has access to information about them via email accounts, social networking sites etc.
9) Are you pregnant or have you recently had a baby (in the past 18 months)?	Domestic abuse often starts or escalates during pregnancy. You need to consider the welfare of the child/unborn child. You will need to make a referral to Children's Services. See the LSCB Pre-Birth Protocol .
10) Are there any children, step-children that aren't in the household? Or are there other dependents in the household i.e. older relatives?	Has everyone at risk been considered? You may need to make a referral to Children's or Adult Services at Lincolnshire County Council. .
11) Has (...) ever hurt the children/dependents?	Domestic abuse and child abuse are often linked. Share this information with Children and Adult Services
12) Has (...) ever threatened to hurt or kill the children/dependents?	Could the perpetrator abuse any vulnerable adults? Share this information with Children and Adult Services
13) Is the abuse happening more often?	Previous abuse is the most effective indicator that

DASH Question	What to consider when asking the question
	further abuse will occur. Try to ascertain if anything is happening in the relationship that might be triggering more abuse.
14) Is the abuse getting worse?	It is possible that the abuse will escalate.
15) Does (...) try to control everything you do and / or are they excessively jealous?	Power and control, leading to dominance and isolation. Record ways in which the victim is being controlled and any implications for practitioners working with them currently or in the future.
16) Has (...) ever used weapons or objects to hurt you?	Consider all potential weapons including household objects, mobility aids, tools, sports equipment etc. as well as more obvious ones such as knives and guns. This is useful information to help protect the welfare of professionals as well.
17) Has (...) ever threatened to kill you or someone else and you believed them?	Even though the perpetrator may never have any intention of carrying this out the fact that the victim believes the threat demonstrates the power and control the perpetrator has.
18) Has (...) ever attempted to strangle / choke / suffocate / drown you?	Restriction of the airways is dangerous and could easily lead to death. This is the second most common way for females to be killed in domestic homicides.
19) Does (...) do or say things of a sexual nature that make you feel bad or that physically hurt you or someone else?	Also consider threats made by the perpetrator to post naked photographs on the internet or send to family or friends. Consider grooming and Child Sexual Exploitation.
20) Is there any other person who has threatened you or that you are afraid of?	Consider HBV or FGM. If this is relevant do not speak to the family as they may be involved.
21) Do you know if (...) has hurt anyone else?	Consider previous partners, family members, colleagues and friends.
22) Has (...) ever mistreated an animal or the family pet?	There is a link between cruelty to animals and to people. The family pet may be used as a tool to control the victim.
23) Are there any financial issues? For example, are you dependent on (...) for money / have they recently lost their job / other financial issues?	This could pose additional risks to the victim if money is withdrawn from the perpetrator. You may need to look for emergency funds to help the victim escape.
24) Has (...) had problems in the past year with drugs (prescription or other), alcohol or mental health leading to problems in leading a normal life?	The victim may conceal this information if they are also using drugs or rely on the perpetrator for drugs. Record what problems and how it affects them. This is important information that could be shared with other agencies to reduce risk. Also ask if the victim has alcohol or drug issues and whether they want help and support.
25) Has (...) ever threatened or attempted suicide?	There is a link between the perpetrator threatening

	suicide and homicide. Others may be in danger e.g. they may harm the children as a way of inflicting pain on the victim.
26) Has (...) ever breached bail / an injunction and / or any agreement for when they can see you and / or the children?	This may indicate whether the perpetrator has any respect for authority and the law. It may also mean that the victim is skeptical about legal interventions if they have previously been ignored.
27) Do you know if (...) has ever been in trouble with the police or has a criminal history?	This may be an opportunity to gather new information that has previously gone unknown. It may be that the victim is not aware themselves of the abusive person's previous history.

Note: The Lincolnshire Police risk assessment is slightly different and certain questions are highlighted as they act as an additional alert for further action (agreed by National Police Chiefs' Council).
