Item 5.1

Lincolnshire Geodiversity Group - no objection to the extension of the quarry but some concerns over the detail of the restoration proposals especially with regard to access to the retained geological face. It is suggested that banks should be constructed so that all parts of the face are easily accessible for study or a series of 'stepped banks' so that students of whatever age could access the face and study the geological features exposed. The Geodiversity Group members would be happy to discuss this part of the proposal in more detail with the applicants if this is considered desirable.

Planning Manager Response – comments noted, however, the proposal is being recommended for refusal and so it is not considered necessary to investigate this matter further.
